HOSPITAL IS HELD LIABLE

Supreme Court Holds Hhat Holy Cross Is Not Charitable Institution.

An opinion was handed down by the supreme court yesterday in the matter of Frank Gitzhoffen, appellant, against the Holy Cross Hospital association, and a new trial was granted to the appellant. Gitzhoffen, who was a patient at the hospital, brought suit to recover damages in the sum of $35,000 for the loss of his eyesight, which he alleged was caused by negligence in the manner of his treatment by the nurses at the hospital.

The supreme court in this opinion holds that the Holy Cross Hospital is not a charitable institution, but is one organized for financial profit, and is thus held liable for the negligence of the nurses employed there. Gitzhoffen was a victim of a serious disease of the eyes and was sent to the hospital for treatment by the county commissioners. A wash was prescribed for his eyes, to be applied every twenty minutes. This would have required the attendance of two nurses. Instead, only one nurse was detailed to his case, and his eyes, he says, were washed only three or four times each day. The lower court held that the hospital was a charitable institution, and hence could not be held liable for the alleged negligence of its nurses. The supreme court holds, however, that the hospital association is organized for financial profit, and is thus held liable for the negligence of the nurses employed there. The supreme court holds, however, that the hospital association is organized for financial profit, and is thus held liable for the negligence of the nurses employed there.

THE RIGHT IDEA.

Grandmother's Methods Brought Down to Date.

Sitting around the stove in one of the leading drug stores the other evening was the usual crowd. Politics, religion and about everything else were discussed, when the discussion turned to modern vs. ancient methods of doctoring. One man said, they don't do things like our good old grandmothers did, and if you will sit down and figure out, you will find that more people die from pneumonia, and more people go into consumption today, with all their new fangled ideas than in the days of our grandmothers. I tell you they were able to get back to the good old ways of treating diseases.

The drugist broke in here and says: "You are right to a certain extent, but I want to show you a preparation that is put up on the same principles of our grandmothers."

Here is a package of the BROMO COUGH REMEDY. In the package is a BROMO COUGH PLASTER. This plaster is intended to put on the chest in place of the goose grease and turpentine that our grandmothers used.

By placing the plaster on the chest it relieves the congestion on the lungs, loosening the cough, making it easier for the medicine to do its work. We sell the BROMO COUGH PLASTERS separately, but for nothing when you buy this complete package of BROMO COUGH REMEDY for 50c. It was agreed that this was the proper way to treat a cough, and the crowd dispersed.

ELKS GET CONCESSION.

Excursionists May Return by Way of San Francisco.

Announcement was made by Thomas Homer, exalted ruler of the Elks, last night, that a concession had been obtained by the Elks for the coming second annual excursion to Los Angeles, which will be given Feb. 9, of the privilege of the excursionists returning by way of San Francisco for $5 in addition to the excursion rate for the round trip.

At Los Angeles a large number of especially attractive side trips and concessions have been arranged during the last week. Receptions will be tendered to the excursionists at San Bernardino, and at Riverside, where flower festivals will be held in their honor.

The profits from the excursion will be devoted by the Elks to local charities. Last year, on the first annual excursion there were 719 who took the trip. It is expected that the number for this year will be fully 50 per cent greater. More than 150 passages have already been booked at the headquarters of the club.

WRECK NEAR WOODS CROSS

Broken Brake-Beam Causes Delayed Traffic.

Extra freight train No. 201 of the Rio Grande Western, westbound, leaving Salt Lake at 10:10 o'clock last night, met with an accident at Woods Cross, just north of Salt Lake, whereby one car of freight was derailed and traffic on the main line held up for an hour.

The accident was caused by a broken brakebeam which threw the car from the track. The sidetrack was not blocked, however, and until an early this morning through trains were switched on to this and enabled to pass the wreck. As far as could be ascertained no blame attached to anyone for the accident.
